Mucormycosis is a rare but serious infection caused by a group of fungi called Mucormycetes. Fungal infections, including mucormycosis, aspergillosis and invasive candidiasis, have been reported in patients with severe COVID-19 or those recovering from the disease and have been associated with severe illness and death. India has reported a recent surge in mucormycosis cases.

Prevention of COVID-19 associated mucormycosis needs to focus on aiming for better glycaemic control in COVID-19 patients and monitoring the use of systemic corticosteroids in treating severe cases.

taken over by Dr. Shivaprakash, he highlighted the current status of COVID-19 pandemic and surge of Covid Associated Mucormycosis (CAM) in India. He gave a brief introduction of mucoromycosis and different species of order Mucorales causing the disease. He emphasized of Rhizopus arrhizus which is a predominant species causing CAM in India. He also elaborated

on diagnostic features, Pathogenesis and treatment and prevention of covid associated mucoromycosis. Later there was an interactive session with the participants. Finally, the webinar was concluded and vote of thanks was proposed by Dr. Prasanna Srinivas, Assistant Professor, Department of Microbiology.

Outcome:

- Awareness was created with respect to Covid-19 Associated Mucormycosis.
- Participants could understand the disease diagnosis, identification methods of Mucorales, treatment and prevention of mucoromycosis.
